A NUGGET CALIFORNIA who had mined and squandered much gold, met at last a noble lady, who persuaded him to abstain from strong drink. He kept his promise, and through temperance and economy was soon able to send his mother in the East a good-sized greenback, being the first communication with his family for sixteen years. In reply he received the information that his father had died, leaving the old homestead, valued at $10,000, and imploring him to return home and comfort his mother in her declining years.

A GENTLEMAN of "elegant leisure," and a bachelor at that, has been amusing himself with matrimonial statistics, and reports of two hundred marriages published in New England journals during a recent week, only two of the ladies had distinguished names—such as Mary and Ann. All the others were Mollies, Dollys, Lizzie, Tibbles, Biddies, Babbies, Babes, Patties, Matthes, Lizzes, and so on. It says he can hear of some girl with a familiar Christian name, he shall shorten her."

A VICTOR at the opera in Vienna writes:—"The ladies will be interested in knowing that an entire new mode of dressing the hair is in vogue here, and that there seems to be very little false hair used, the real hair combed in an invisible net while the front stands up in crimped confusion. On the top of the head a few ribbon is worn, similar to a gentleman's necktie, with short fringed ends. Earrings are infinitesimal small and easily diamonds or pearls."
